Phi Sigma Pi Names Adrienne Freeland, CAE, as New Executive Director

LANCASTER, PA – Phi Sigma Pi National Honor Fraternity is pleased to announce the appointment of Adrienne Freeland (Alpha Zeta Chapter, '04), CAE, as its next Executive Director. A dedicated and experienced association leader, Freeland brings a deep understanding of Phi Sigma Pi's mission and operations, having previously served as both the Executive Director of The Phi Sigma Pi Foundation and as the Associate Executive Director for the National Fraternity.

Freeland is a seasoned professional in the fraternal and nonprofit sectors, with a career rooted in values-driven leadership, strategic planning, and member engagement. In addition to her long-standing service within Phi Sigma Pi, she has held leadership roles in national organizations, including the Fraternity Communications Association and the Professional Fraternity Executives Association. She also holds the Certified Association Executive (CAE) credential, signifying her commitment to excellence and professionalism in association management.

"I am honored to continue serving the Phi Sigma Pi community in this new capacity," said Freeland. "This organization has played a meaningful role in my professional journey, and I am excited to lead a team that is deeply committed to advancing our ideals of scholarship, leadership, and fellowship."

Phi Sigma Pi National President Brian Christiansen shared the National Council's confidence about the appointment:

"Adrienne is the right leader at the right time for Phi Sigma Pi. Her deep institutional knowledge, proven leadership within the Fraternity and Foundation, and her national reputation in the fraternal and association communities make her uniquely qualified to lead us into the future. The National Council is united in our belief that Adrienne will drive bold progress, strengthen our Brotherhood, and ensure our values remain relevant and impactful for generations to come."

Freeland succeeds Suzanne Schaffer, CAE, and will begin her new role effective June 16, 2025.

Phi Sigma Pi is a gender-inclusive national honor fraternity that fosters a lifelong commitment to the ideals of scholarship, leadership, and fellowship.
